Adani sheds bond sale for ₹1,000 crore

Bondholders are looking for a more active capital structure of the various companies in Adani's industrial group, the seniority of various obligations and their recovery in the event of a crisis are up for investigation, said the people, who declined to be identified as they are not authorized to speak publicly about clients. Discussions are at the initial stage and creditors have not accepted to negotiate, according to the people. New investors are also making enquiries about potential opportunities, they added. An Adani Group representative did not offer any insurance commitment. Goldman Sachs Group strategists, meanwhile, said they don't see wider contagion to other issuers from the issues faced by the group, which is the parent for the likes of Adani Green Energy and Adani Transmission. Bondholders typically consult lawyers, bankers and advisers when a company's financial picture weakens so they can familiarise themselves with potential financial reasons for the firm's struggles to pay its debts. Solutions can include the company adding creditors to waive penalties, buying back bonds and loans, or swapping them for new debt with easier terms. The process includes trying to gauge how strong a claim bondholders have on assets backing their securities in case the company defaults. The term sheet for the Adani Enterprises to abruptly pull a record ₹2,000 crore following an order of arbitrators, and a similar statement to be issued a few months ago when the conglomerate was looking to raise funds to finance expansion plans, the signs of just how prohibitively expensive any attempted debt financing for group firms could now be, the yield on an Adani Green Energy bond spiked over 30% last week. The market now will likely reduce the group's ability to raise money for capital expenditure projects or to refinance debt over the next year or two, according to Moody's. Slow go spending to hit rural connectivity For FY23, the spending from the USDF is pegged at ₹10,400 crore, over three times higher than the revised estimates for FY23. Currently, a major allocation of the USDF goes towards the BharatNet project. Apart from the R/W related issues, lately concerns are expressed under BharatNet are also making the rounds. Trends related to actual spending for BharatNet suggest that in FY18, the actual expenditure was 38.3% less than the Budget estimate of ₹10,000 crore, whereas in FY19 and FY20, the actual expenditure was ₹7,260 and ₹7,246 less than the Budget estimate of ₹8,175 crore and ₹8,000 crore, respectively. In FY21, the expenditure on BharatNet from the USDF was ₹5,915.8 crore, 1.3% less than the Budget estimate of ₹6,000 crore. In FY22, however, the expenditure was ₹7,310 crore, as against the Budget estimate of ₹7,300 crore for that year. In FY23, the revised estimate again suggests a 20% fall in the spending for the BharatNet project. Therefore, in the six financial years, including FY23, the government's spending from the USDF will be weak, interrupted, untransparent and inefficient manner, as has been the case so far. Sebi has consistently followed this approach in its dealings with the government, but it continues to do so in future as well," it said. "On a larger time scale, India's markets have been viewed positively by investors. A cross-country analysis of India's market performance with both peer and developed countries, during the past few years till date, places the Indian market as a positive outlier," Sebi said. ### Country's image not impacted, says FM

Speaking at the event, chief economic advisor V Anantha Nageswaran said "If there is a steady nominal GDP growth of 10% which is not a very high number every year, that would bring about a meaningful reduction in the fiscal deficit and the public debt." He said. "The Finance Minister Narendra Modi decided to continue with the elevated public capital expenditure to boost growth. 'Mumbai should be looking at the proposal', he said. Regarding the Budget announcement that it would remove tax exemption on life insurance products which the aggregate premium income of ₹5 lakh, the FM said in response to a question on the rationale behind it. "In this specific case, tax is levied on annual premium which is over a specific number. The level of penetration and the potential that exists in India for insurance is that a majority of the population is not at all completely covered. The penetration cannot happen on the back of one person paying an annual premium of ₹5 lakh per annum. The finance ministry officials present at the meet also made it clear that the two lakh tax on the insurance front will not impact the policy trends of deepening penetration and clarified that there was sufficient data to suggest that investments were inadequate in a number of areas, the ASX to which decisions were taken to tax them. On the decision to correct outstanding dues in equity at Vodafone Idea, finance secretary Nageswaran said the transaction is being done as a package for all telcos. He said the government share will be held by the Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) and will not be considered as a public shareholder. "We are not bearing Vodafone Idea's debt. The company is not a position of giving the government a package for all telcos.
